

Cumulative Feature-Ablation Design
Each configuration retains all preceding features and introduces one additional feature

The actuator excitation is current; the remaining LSTM channels are causal transformations, configuration descriptors, or measured-feedback quantities.